Trading Methodology

CCI is a niche player whose returns are uncorrelated with those of many other advisors. Mr. Hawkins has over thirty years experience trading cash and futures markets in the grain sector and is primarily a spread trader. CCI employs statistical models to project expected values for each investment opportunity.

Monthly Commentary

April was slightly positive with gains coning from Kansas City spreads and long corn positions.

We are gradually taking on increased levels of risk as some of the erratic moves that typified the last 2 years seem to be abating.
